Our Fun & Funky Horns: There's nothing like a great horn section to blow you away, and we have six of the best players around! They are tight, experienced professionals who play some of the toughest horn parts written. You don't find amazing players like this every day. We are far from typical, and we like it that way. It's part of our "experience" to blow our guests away! Our Musicians Are all pros and have been making and teaching music for more than 40 years. We wanted to be different from the rest, and we are! Our motto is to play the music we love with friends we love, and it aligns with our 40-year friendships. Many of us have known each other since we were teens, playing music in a Drum and Bugle Corps. There, we learned about having a passion for music and perfection in playing. That discipline comes through in our performances.

Abel Sanchez has been leading his band, Abel and the Prophets, for more than 50 years.

In the late 60s, his band became one of San Francisco's premier house bands, opening many of the Bay Area hot spot nightclubs and packing the house with their soulful sounds. As a result of growing up in the southeast area of San Francisco, Soul music, as it was called back in the day, was the DNA of this band's music. Ultimately, the diversity of all the sounds and music happening in the Bay Area during those times became reflected in the band's music and continues to this day. They were signed by Fantasy Records in 1970, and that's when the band began its flight of performing, touring, and recording, and has been performing ever since.

The music and evolution of the band has expanded over the years, with them playing music ranging from Rhythm & Blues, Funk, and Latin Rock, ultimately adding a touch of Jazz to the set as they let the eagle fly! Throughout their diverse set and performances over the years, there have always been surprises as they continually invite an assortment of various friends and musicians who are also in their own right seasoned and ready to add to the night. Thus, Abel and the Prophets & Friends are the billing on many nights, and they always invite everyone to come out, enjoy, and experience their show.
